Editorial

Synthesis is beginning to show itself everywhere in our world. The interconnectivity of all planes and levels is becoming apparent in many walks of life and we are having to get used to its quality of paradox.

In London at the moment we have people camped on the steps of St Paul's Cathedral calling for a more equal distribution of wealth. Are these people, like Christ, throwing out corrupt traders from the temple or are they hindering true worship and right functioning of Church life? Should the Church support them or have them evicted? Do we support or condemn the protesters and why?

We have in our Journal a request to meditate for the best outcome for our financial situation.

Often we ask Hierarchy for help in our work but we do not always think that they too need our cooperation. We have two quotes from DK about our role in world affairs and how the demands of all humanity shape our destiny. It is not predicted from above. DK says we have to struggle with the paradox of being oriented towards both the Ashram and Humanity. Both require detached contact.

In this edition we look at co-operation between Humanity and the environment and our planet Earth. We have an article by Judy Jacka on the etheric links between these; the Declaration of Interdependence between humans and the natural world; the respect for Pachamama in Bolivia; and news from Germany of their Forum on "Lightness and stability through loving connection with the earth".

All these synthetic approaches remind us of the Torus form, which Netta Wells has taught us about for so many years. This links the highest and the lowest as well as the outer and inner. The torus of the electromagnetic field of the heart is becoming more known about these days as human hearts begin to vibrate and open to the love and wisdom of the 2nd Ray the greatest Synthetic Ray of all. Dinah Lawson looks at this in relation to Heart Math technology, Wendy Glaubitz in relation to Cosmic love and Ioannis Psarras looks at the beneficial silence of love which carries healing on its wings. DK says. "You can go far along the Path of Discipleship, my brother and my friend, when your heart centre opens and you can think with love. Do you understand the paradox of that?"

The Great Invocation

From the point of Light within the Mind of God
Let Light stream forth into the minds of men,
Let Light descend on Earth.

From the point of Love within the heart of God
Let Love stream forth into the hearts of men,
May Christ return to Earth.

From the centre where the Will of God is known
Let purpose guide the little wills of men –
The purpose which the Masters know and serve.

From the centre which we call the race of men
Let the Plan of Love and Light work out
And may it seal the door where evil dwells.

Let Light and Love and Power restore the Plan on Earth.
